

GOD,

What do you want to do through me this year with the life and gifts you've given me?

Stewardship
a way of life

Stewardship as a way of life has amazing implications for our relationships and our daily lives. It expands the horizons of our world and direction and focus to our busy lives. When we commit ourselves to live a life that recognizes God as the creator and center of all things, when we receiving all that we are and have with gratitude and then reflect that joy by serving others, then we can truly say we are His disciples.

The journey of a disciple's life is one of intense joy, fulfillment and satisfaction. The early disciples lived in this spirit of gratitude and service and we can find the same passion by living as authentic stewards of the life we've been given, using gifts we possess and responding to the opportunities that lie before us. Stewardship is more than raising money; it's a way of life.
